

Milk Price Rises Sought in Alberta

Applications Made in Four Cities But Not in Edmonton

Though milk distributors in Edmonton have remained calm so far, their brethren in other Alberta cities have made application for an A. T. Neale, milk supervisor for the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, said today he would be probing milk prices in Calgary, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and Red Deer early in the new year in response to applications from their representatives for a boost in their returns.

NO APPLICATION HERE

Up to the present no application has been made by producers who would lead to a rise in fluid milk prices in Edmonton, but a meeting of the provincial board of Milk and Cream Producers' Association held in North Battleford such a move was possible.

A milk-price move in the other cities will take place in Drumheller on December 16 when the price of milk will drop from 20 to 19 cents.

Mr. Neale said the price of milk in Drumheller was not controlled by the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, but by the local board of health. The price of milk in the other cities was regulated for the lower prices by agreement. An investigation into prices in Drumheller had been made, he said.

Producers and distributors were compensated for the downward adjustment in milk by other changes in such "luxury" products as chocolate milk, buttermilk and some types of cream.

Producers will pay for milk in Alberta as by contract at Crows Nest, which pay 21 cents a quart.

Between 40 and 50 per cent of the milk needed by households in that district must be imported, Mr. Neale said.

Life of a Boxing Judge Is a Mattress of Roses

The MacDonald pursuit race is over. But that's about all which can be termed a final about MacDonal's holy disputed boxing triumph over Eddie Halligan last week.

To use a metaphor, the little pot is simmering as a result of the decision that but money on the track and there were several, but $500 every time in leveling abuse at judges Alex Wynnychuk and Roy Halliburton and referee Mickey McGuire.

Then pure isn't got an inkling about their prize-fights, muffled fan number one. "There are 37 inkings in a club and they did it," said McGuire.

In defence of the decision fan number two, a member of the MacDonald club, replied: "Go back your head. Everybody knows the guys appointed by the Edmonton Boxing and Wrestling Commission can see how they watch the grass grow."

So from the fans' point of view it was a case of each his own. But on the scoreboards of Wynnychuk, Halliburton and McGuire "MacDonald was it all."

And behind their computation lies the story of how boxing matches should be judged. We got that story yesterday from the judges themselves.

According to Halliburton and Wynnychuk you allow five points to the man who wins a round and a proportionate number to his opponent. For instance, if boxer A gets 20 points and boxer B scores 14 in any one round, respectively, in the final analysis of the round.

Basically points are scored for hitting, blocking, condition after a round, conduct, and general all-round skill. The judge uses his discretion on how many points to allow for a telling blow.

Now on a knockdown you award one point for every two seconds the man is on the canvas.

If a man throws a blow which misses, or is blocked on the arms and shoulders, he loses a point and his opponent is awarded one.

Aggressiveness adds up to one point per round and each time a man commits a foul he loses a point.

A boxer is penalized for excessive clinching. The referee is required to tell the man to break up a clinch. If he compels to the offender loses a point.

In the overall picture condition and facial expression count toward a boxer's point total. Considerations after knockdown and after a defensive stand are noted particularly.

In regard to the Halligan-MacDonald fight, Halligan had this to say:

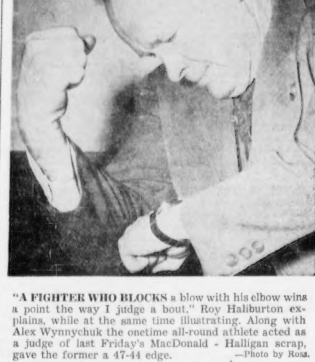

Halligan landed the more telling blows but only one of every four he threw hit the target. And MacDonald appeared to block two of every three blows which hit him.

Summing up Halliburton, a pugilist-all round athlete in his salad days, figured MacDonald made Halligan fight MacDonal's type of fight. His superior defence made the Spokane Negro lose as many points by missing punches as he counted by landing them.

Both judges figured MacDonald was the cleaner puncher and less inclined to clinch. Mac finished the fight in better shape than his adversary, according to them.

Halliburton has been associated with boxing since 1919. In that year he was with the Canadian team which competed in the amateur boxing games at Paris. He refereed the amateur fight at the Arena in 1935 when Nuts Patrick of Vancouver knocked out T. W. Osborne from Montreal for the heavyweight crown of Canada.

Wynnychuk formerly was boxing coach at the University of Alberta.

"A FIGHTER WHO BLOCKS a blow with his elbow wins a point the way I judge a bout," Roy Halliburton explains, while at the same time illustrating. Along with Alex Wynnychuk the onetime all-round athlete acted as a judge of last Friday's MacDonald-Halligan scrap, gave the former a 47-44 edge.

"TOO MANY FANS haven't the slightest idea of how a fight is scored," Alex Wynnychuk maintains while discussing last Friday's MacDonald-Halligan bout. Former boxing coach at University of Alberta he gave MacDonald a five point edge on the Spokane Negro.

High School Curling Enthusiasm Is High

WINNIPEG, Dec. 7.—(CP)—One of the fastest growing events in the Dominion, the 1948-49 Canadian high school curling championships will be held in Edmonton Feb. 22-24. Dr. Cameron, acting secretary of the Canadian playoff committee, announced Monday night.

It is expected the same six provinces which participated in the classic at Winnipeg last season will compete in the playoffs at Edmonton, with the possibility that Ontario will have two representatives—Ontario and Northern Ontario—as in the Canadian Senior curling championships. Other provinces to be represented include British Columbia, Alberta, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Quebec.

MANITOBA TOP KICKS.—The Manitoba rink, skipped by Stan Gowing of Morden, gave the province's second victory in the two years the championship has been held. The 1946-47 finals, with only Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta represented, were held in Regina.

Jim Harper of Alberta College, Edmonton, captured the Alberta title after 600 rocks battled it out in provincial competitions. As Transcona, collegiate rink in a sudden-death final.

HOPING FOR BIGGER ENTRY.—Last season's playoffs, 200 young curlers throughout the six provinces competed in their respective districts before provincial winners were declared. Officials hope that this time this year, Saskatchewan headed the list, last winter when 800 rocks took part in the Manitoba playoffs.

Regarded Harry Dick had spent a total of one hour in the "hot box," continuing to lead in penalties.

Harvey Bennett of Providence kept the best goaltender average of 2.20. He had allowed 33 scores in 23 games.

Federation Plans 'Girls' Broom Loop

A girls' broomball league will be operated by the Federation of Community Leagues for the first time in Edmonton's history. The league was the result of a meeting held last Friday at the City Hall Building. Twelve community centers were represented.

Thus far five teams—Central, McCauley, Crumline, Bonnie and Doyle Street—have entered the broomball loop. It is open to teenage girls only. Further plans will be discussed at a special meeting to be held at the B.C. Dec. 13.

In the world of hockey, a new announced that 28 teams thus far have entered the Federation's youth leagues. They are: 16 teams (17), 16 teams (17), 16 teams (17), 16 teams (17), 16 teams (17), 16 teams (17), 16 teams (17), 16 teams (17), 16 teams (17), 16 teams (17).

DOUG CAIRNS SIGNED

Stampeders Release Krekelwetz To Quakers

CALGARY, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Vic Krekelwetz has been released by the Saskatchewan Quakers of the Western Canada Hockey League for Calgary Stampeders, manager Dave Durbach of the Calgary club announced Monday.

At the same time Durbach said Doug Cairns, center, had been signed for the remainder of the current hockey season.

Krekelwetz is expected to line up with Durbach against the Stampeders in Saskatoon Wednesday.

He is playing his first year in senior company graduate. Cairns has been working out with the club for the last two weeks and is expected to join the club at Regina next Friday. To prepare for private business, Cairns is expected to play only a few games away from Calgary. However, club officials said they hoped to have him in line with Durbach against the Stampeders in Saskatoon Wednesday.

Skaters Plan Big Season

Take it from President Bert Harvey, big things are in store for the Edmonton Skating Club this season.

The club was organized last year, but inadequate facilities handicapped it throughout the long winter. This time it will be different. The active north-end group got together last summer to plan the season's up-to-the-minute rink, complete with clubhouse and a good lighting system.

Pat Gunn, prominent Alberta speed skater, will again be the guest of choice every Wednesday evening from 7 to 8 o'clock. He will have a good deal of up-and-coming talent to work with, including Audrey Jones, Shirley Williams and Shirley Williams.

The group plans to enter in Federation of Community Leagues races and will sponsor good talent in other big races.

'Rockabye' Currie Has Busy Time

Frank Currie was a busy man Monday evening. Prior to departing for Leithbridge with his hockey squad the flyer coach sat in on a dinner meeting of the Edmonton Sportswriters' Association.

It was open season for the scribes and sportswriters who, particularly, played Currie about his Saskatoon mix-up with referee "Buck" Crawford following last Friday's Quakers-Flyers game in the Saskatchewan Centre.

Just one of those things that sometimes happen in the heat of battle, the flyer leader summed up. "At least I got a new nickname," he laughed.

"Everyone's calling me 'Rockabye'."

At midnight Currie headed out of town with his club, destination Leithbridge, where Flyers and Maple Leafs tonight in a WHL. Currie, Leafs are no part of the soft touch on their own sheet but the bowman of the Edmonton team indicated he thought his gang about to get hit badly down there.

CAVANAGH ANTICS TIP SPOKANE 3-0

TRAIL, B.C., Dec. 7.—(CP)—Spokane Flyers 10-game winning streak was halted here last night by Trail Smoke Eaters 3-0 in a Western International Hockey league fixture played before 1,000 fans.

Victory strengthened Trail's hold on second place in the league standings.

Terry Cavanagh, Edmonton product, who scored twice, gave Trail the first goal while Flyers were two men short. Dave Nichol added another a minute later.

Sensational net-minding by Bill Margorets of Trail and Ron Pichell in Flyers' net kept both clubs off the scoreboard in the meantime.

Cavanagh broke away in the dying minutes of the third session to sink Trail's third tally.

Wolfe Comes Through In Portage 'Spiel

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Dec. 7.—Skip Frank Wolfe of Edmonton scored a 12-11 extra-end triumph over the Gibson rink of Hartney, Man., as Portage la Prairie's $15,000 six-day automobile bonspiel got underway Monday.

All 12 rinks in the five favored rink districts came through.

Howard Wood of Winnipeg, winner of the 1947 Niagara Falls bonspiel and considered by many to be the rink's top favorite, came through by downing Chuck First of Portage la Prairie, 4-2.

Bar 'Aging' Junior For Five Seasons

MONTREAL, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Marion Groleau, high-scoring Quebec Citadels forward, was suspended Saturday from organized hockey for five years when he admitted to officials of the Quebec Amateur Hockey association that he was over the 20-year age limit for junior hockey.

Citadels also were ordered to forfeit 13 games to which Groleau participated.

Groleau, who led the JAHSA scoring parade until he was benched last week by Citadel Manager Frank Byrne, appeared before association officials and admitted that he had substituted his dead brother's birth certificate instead of his own. He also said officials that he played last season while over age.

The suspended player said he reached his 21st birthday April 4, 1947.

BYRNE SPEAKS

At Quebec, Byrne said in a statement yesterday he thought the case of the over-age player raised the necessity for amendments of hockey regulations.

Byrne said he thought a distinction should be made between a team that knowingly kept an over-age player in the lineup and one that did so unwittingly as in the case of Citadels.

Byrne said Citadels did not agree with the verdict but thanked the board of governors for "the hearing they allowed us, giving us a chance to explain our point of view."

"One thing that does annoy us greatly," Byrne's statement added, "is the statement issued by the president of the JAHSA that Citadels should lose all their games while Groleau played, and that no interest of the JAHSA could be expected."

Hogan Is Named Gopher of Year

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Ben Hogan, the mighty male golfer who plays out of Hershey, Pa., Monday was named professional golfer of the year by Fred Corcoran, director of the Official Golf Guide.

"His achievement of setting a record of 278 in the open championship, winning the PGA and Western open titles and taking eight other tournaments makes him the standard."

Hogan won the British, Canadian and Mexican amateur titles. Miss Lantry won the women's United States title and the Amateur and Collegiate championships.

What Now, Jim Cameron?

Tuesday... and we answer the mail... Jim Cameron, Cameron? You make me mad enough to write a stamp, some paper and my valuable time to answer your reply to Bill Brode, Barred, so that he could settle an argument re Jack Sharkey winning the world championship.

"You say 'in the first place he put the snatch on it by winning in unpopular decision over Mac Schmeling.' Now where do you suppose Mac Schmeling got the title? Of course he won it from Sharkey (on a foul) and this means Sharkey is the only world's heavyweight champion who ever lost the title and then regained it. Sharkey beat Young Striding in a one bout elimination tournament after Gene Tunney retired to become the recognized champion... or you tell us how Schmeling won the championship."

Dear Mr. Cameron: Your slip is showing in two or three places on this note. To begin with, the night Sharkey and Young Striding battled in Miami, Feb. 27, 1923, nothing was at stake except an opportunity for the winner to advance further along the trail of what amounted to an elimination series then being held.

Schmeling meanwhile, was called upon to whip Johnny Risko and Paulino in turn, after which he tangled with Sharkey for the still vacant heavyweight crown. They met in New York, Jan. 12, 1930 and since then Schmeling in the fourth round the latter became a title, it was two years later before Sharkey "caught up" with Schmeling and first won the crown.

This is for certain, Mr. Cameron, No heavyweight champion ever lost his title and regained it!

Let the Fans Howl

"Pinto Pete," Edmonton: "Re the recent MacDonald-Halligan bout... have always been led to believe that a person whose worthiness and qualifications rated high enough to be selected as a judge of sport was capable of wise judgment and above all, fair play. However, considering the trend of the actual bout from start to finish as the crowd saw it, and the loud response of booing upon hearing the final decision, the judges would have won more respect if they had spent a quiet evening at home."

"It may be that in some cases a paying bet means more than respect."

Dear "Pinto Pete": See story by our Dick Beddoes elsewhere in the sports section as to the worthiness and qualifications of the judges in the fight between Pinto Pete and the late MacDonald. We don't subscribe to any idea that the fans should not voice their disfavor if they see fit. After all "you pay your money and take your choice."

Fan disagreement with official verdicts generally doesn't lead to anything very serious except in those isolated cases where vicious and frequently unfounded rumors may be circulated. This, we feel, is the worst development as an aftermath of the MacDonald-Halligan war.

Mr. George F. (Knobby) Clarke: While respecting your right to your own opinion, we can't see that there's a shred of real evidence to back up any suggestion of a "fix" where the fight you have reference to is concerned. In any event couldn't run your letter on account of its smacks of libel.

Takes Dim View of Calgary Utterances

H.D.H., Edmonton: "The long road ahead of those fans who are endeavoring to forward sportsmanship and establish friendly rivalry between Edmonton and Calgary was most certainly not shortened nor made any easier by the composition of G.G.R.'s editorial delivery, Calgary, appearing on your Nov. 30th sports page."

G.G.R. maintained that while Calgary sportsmen were fast-buck boys, Edmonton was just "a big nickle town."

"This childish and narrow-minded composition however, did not, I am certain, disturb any normally intelligent individual in contrast with the attitude of the most efficient solution would be dawning of G.G.R. Then instead of hearing yuck, yuck, it would be giub giub... and glub."

Dear H.D.H.: For you cheers, cheers... and cheers. A. Seward, 38 Street: "Do you suppose you could assign your excellent photographer the task of taking a few pictures of the Flyers? We are getting very bored looking at the same ones. It is tiresome to see a player going in or just coming out of his shower. A few of them look as if they were going to their execution."

Dear Mr. Seward: See story for our Flyer "shots." It's still a fact that Frank Currie and his men are easily the most photographed hockey team in Canada, amateur, amateur or pro. Maybe the trouble lies in the fact that they are so easy to see a player here so often there's no new way left of photographing them. However we'll see what can be done.

Simon (Sparkle) Miller, c/o YMCA, Great Falls: "Our team needs a centre and a defenceman. If there are any fellows around Edmonton that would like to come down here write me."

Dear Sparkle: There you be, son.

Ski Jumping Moves Indoors in Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Ski jumping has moved indoors and now it's a case of jumpers zooming close to the chandeliers.

Close to 8,000 spectators watched jumpers go through their paces at the Auditorium here Friday and Saturday in the first such demonstration in Canada.

Anders Haugen, a Minneapolis bricklayer who was born in Norway, invented the jump in two sections after the first world war. He was a 130-lb. indoor jumper in the 1920s. He was a 130-lb. indoor jumper in the 1920s. He was a 130-lb. indoor jumper in the 1920s.

Five members of Winnipeg's Puffin Ski club participated in the demonstration, among them 140-lb. indoor jumper Bill Irvine, one of Canada's crack alpine skiers. He said he didn't find it as exhilarating as outdoor jumping.

John Marley, 190 Manitoba Junior jump champion, said that he found no difficulty in the jump.

The Red Sea is 2,000 miles long and is almost straight.

Canadian Out-Points Thompson

LONDON, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Sally Carter, Toronto's 35-year-old light-heavyweight, defeated Billy Thompson, British boxing champion, on points in a lively, close round non-title bout preliminary to the Woodward-Savold fight.

Each a fast, crisp puncher with a snappy left, stole points in early rounds. Until the fifth round Thompson stopped more straight lefts than he had ever before.

Throughout the bout, Carter countered Thompson's aggressive two-handed attacks with fierce left center punches which frequently drew cheers from the 11,000 fans.

But the British champion, at 127 pounds, was aggressive and the 136-pound Canadian was puzzled by his low punch and frequent rushes.

In the dressing room Carter sported cuts over both eyes which he said were inflicted by Thompson's head striking cinder blocks.

"It is a grand feeling to win. My new job is to beat Arthur King of Toronto."

L.I. Arthur, Canadian lightweight champion, won the British Empire title Oct. 1 when he forced Thompson to a stoppage in the fourth round in a Manchester bout for the vacant title.

Thompson, who was aggressive and the 136-pound Canadian was puzzled by his low punch and frequent rushes.

Woodcock Gets Nod On Savold's Foul

International Controversy Arises; Yankee Held Edge

LONDON, Dec. 7.—(RUP)—In a fight that produced international controversy instead of a challenger for Joe Louis, Bruce Woodcock of England won on a fourth-round foul over veteran Lee Savold of Paterson, N. J., Monday night before a sell-out crowd of 10,700 at Harewood Avenue.

Referee Sam Russell disqualified Savold at 1:40 of the fourth round after a low right to the groin sent the European and British Empire heavyweight champion writhing to the canvas.

Woodcock had landed only one solid punch during the bout, which had been scheduled for 10 rounds but had suffered punishment that made him bleed profusely from the nose and mouth and he had been fished for a count of eight in the third round.

MURDER HE SAYS
Bill Daly, Savold's manager, leaped into the ring and shouted: "This is murder." He yelled to ringside reporters: "Woodcock is the biggest faker in prize fight history. The guy was all up for a knockout, and he goes down whining from a light punch."

Apparently many of the fans agreed with Daly, for when Woodcock's hand was raised in victory in mid-ring, he was greeted with mingled boos and cheers.

The crowd was all up for a witness the fiasco, which had been expected to produce a possible challenger for Louis.

Both principals were protective of their reputations. Daly declared in the dressing room that it was practically impossible to be hurt by a weakling one of them.

SAVOLD'S STORY
Savold, who had been warned after throwing a low blow at the end of the third round, appeared on the dressing room that he had just landed a left to the body and he was startled a right to the same spot, Woodcock lunged in and "impaled" him on the point of a jab.

Savold appeared to be hammering rapidly toward a certain victory when the disqualification came. Woodcock landed several left jabs in the first round, but in that session, Savold's jab and ripping uppercut had the English champion bleeding from the nose. Lee's jab brought him to the edge of his stool in the second round.

In the third round, it seemed that Woodcock had been knocked out when a one-two punch to the head sent him sprawling. He was up at eight, Woodcock, nervous throughout, fearfully covered up at the beginning of the fourth, and Savold followed him around the ring, unafraid of Woodcock's low pawing, until the fourth round.

Savold weighed 188 pounds, three less than Woodcock.

Promoter Jack Schlemmer announced that he would attempt to rematch Savold and Woodcock because of the unsatisfactory ending of their bout. He said he would come out with a new opponent.

Low Burston, European representative of Mike Jacobs' 20th Century club, said "my offer of a contract to Savold for a Louis fight will stand. But my offer to Woodcock will depend upon what sort of a showing he makes when he and Savold fight again. I wish they had a no-foul rule over here."

NHL Point Paces In 3-Way Tie

When the firing stopped after a heavy-sewing week-end in the National League, little Grant Warwick, Shifty Boston winger, was no longer in sole possession of top place. He now shares it with Chicago's Doug Bentley and Jim Conacher. Bentley picked up a goal and two assists and Conacher grabbed a goal and an assist to move into a three-way tie for the league leadership. Each has 21 points.

Five Pin Mark Falls At 'Rec'

And the pins come tumbling down.

There was no stopping transfers of the Junior's Supply team at the Recreation Association last night. Helling 'em in the Senior Men's league, the five-man contingent, smashed the Edmonton Five Pin bowling association's league record, taking up a brilliant 4,081 pins.

According to Vic Barbo, statistics is chief, it was also the highest triple ever rolled at the Rec.

The team consisted of Ben Hoffertter, Dave Murray, Jack Edwards, Percy Giffen and Jim Rutherford, all prominent in the local world of bowling.

Consistent bowling told the story, with Hoffertter shooting over 300 in his first game, over 300 in his second, and 300 in his third.

Eisenhower Threatened To Close Allied Lines

CHAPTER XXV

Simultaneously with all these operations on the north equally decisive movements were progressing in the south. The principal line of advance was southeast down the Danube Valley toward Linz, with the purpose of joining up with the Russians in Austria.

Since Bradley's offensive in the center had already gained its objectives he had the Third Army available to conduct this drive while the Sixth Army Group gave its entire attention to overrunning the Westphalian area farther to the south and west.

With his main forces pushing down the Danube, Patton's Third Army was now reinforced by the V Corps from Hodges' Army. Patton directed the V to push eastward into Czechoslovakia. The corps captured Pilsen May 10.

In this area the Russian forces were rapidly advancing from the east and careful coordination was again necessary. By agreement we directed the American troops to follow the line Pilsen-Ladsh, while south of Czechoslovakia the advanced line of the Russian was the Budejovitz-Linz railroad and from there along the valley of the Rhine River.

FINAL DRIVE
The final major move of Patton's Seventh Army in November 1945 was group began April 22. On the right flank the XV Corps moved down the Danube and turned southward to strike at Munich, the place of origin of the Nazi movement.

That great city was captured April 30. On May 4 the Third Division the same corps captured Berchtesgaden. Other troops occupied Salzburg. The entire sector disintegrated.

Throughout the front principal operations in all sectors were contained by the end of April or their early capture was a certain effect. Great advances had been made in multiplying many of the administrative, maintenance, and organizational problems with which we constantly had to wrestle.

Again a tremendous strain was placed upon our supply lines. Distinct and fact-motivated columns were sometimes almost solely dependent upon air supply, during which we kept 1,500 transport planes constantly working in our support.

They became known as "flying boxcars" and were never essential than in those concluding stages of the war.

Besides these planes, we stripped and converted many heavy bombers to the same purpose. During the month of April our forces delivered to the front lines 60,000 tons of supplies. This included 10,000,000 gallons of gasoline.

PRISONERS RETURNED
On each return trip from the front our transports and converted bombers brought home thousands of recaptured Allied prisoners. These men were concentrated at convenient camps for rehabilitation and early transfer to their homes.

One day I was called to the camp at Lucky Strike, where I found a group of men who were crowded into a camp which was improperly fed, lived under unsanitary conditions, and were treated with an entire lack of sympathy and understanding.

Even the reports of the men were partially true. It represented a very definite failure to carry out the promises made along the line. I determined to do for myself and told my pilot to get my plane ready for instant departure.

I went to the five men and apologized for my inability to keep my appointment, and explained why it was necessary for me to depart instantly for Lucky Strike. I told them, however, that if they desired to talk with me they could accompany me on the trip. They accepted with alacrity.

NO BASIS
In less than two hours we arrived at Lucky Strike and started our inspection. We rounded around the camp and found no basis for the startling statements made in the disturbing telegram. These two points which the Americans exhibited any impudence. There were no prisoners there. It was of good quality and well cooked but the doctors would not permit salt, pepper, or any other kind of seasoning to be used because they were considered dangerous to men who had undergone virtual starvation over periods ranging from weeks to years.

The other understandable fact was the length of time that men were compelled to stay in the camp before securing transportation to America. This was owing to lack of ships. Freighters, which constituted the vast proportion of our overseas transport service at that stage of the war, were not suited for transportation of passengers.

So pleased did the soldiers seem to be by our visit that they followed to around the camp by the hundreds. When we finally returned to the airplane we found that an enterprising group had installed a loud-speaker system, with the microphone at the head of the line in hundreds of places under every kind of weather condition.

had talked to Allied soldiers, both individually and in groups up to the size of a division. But at that moment I was at that moment at a loss for something to say beyond the fact that the Germans had undergone privation beyond the imagination of the normal human. Then I had a happy thought. It was an idea for speeding up the return of these men to the home-land. So I took the microphone and told the assembled multitude that they were two days away from going home. The first of these was to lead an every-remembering troopship the maximum number for which the ship was designed. This was current practice.

DOUBLING UP
Then I suggested that since submarines were no longer a menace, we could place on each of these returning ships double the normal complement. This would require one man to sleep in each of the two bunks. I told them they could have him bunk during the night.

And the crowd which one of the two schemes they would prefer me to follow. The roar of approval for the doubling-up plan left no doubt as to their desire.

When the noise had subsided I said to them: "Very well, that's the way we shall do it. But I must warn you men that there are five United States senators accompanying you and so now you will have to look it over."

The shouting of laughter that went up told me that the men were completely happy with their choice. Some weeks before the final surrender we received information that various individuals of prominent rank in Germany were seeking ways and means of accomplishing capitulation. In my instance did any of these roundabout messages involve their own safety.

On the contrary, each sender was so fearful of Nazi wrath that he was as much concerned in keeping secret his own part in the matter as he was in achieving the surrender of the German army.

The first direct suggestion of surrender that reached SHAEF came from Himmler, who approached Count Bernadotte in Sweden in an attempt to get in touch with the British and the U.S. On April 26, I received a message from the Prime Minister, requesting the suggestion that I surrender the western front. I regarded the suggestion as a desperate attempt to split the Allies and so informed Mr. Churchill.

NO OFFER
I strongly urged that no proposition be accepted or entertained unless it brought the German army to German forces on all fronts. My view was that any suggestion that the Allies would accept from the German Government a surrender of the German forces would immediately create complete misunderstanding with the Russians and bring about a situation in which the Russians could justifiably accept the German offer.

If the Germans desired to surrender, they would be a tactical and military matter. Likewise, if they wanted to surrender all the forces in my allotted zone of operations, such a capitulation would be a tactical and military matter. The responsibility of the commander on the spot. Consequently, when I had already told Montgomery to accept the military surrender of the German forces in my zone, I was not prepared to accept the German offer.

The necessary documents were signed that day and became effective the following morning. When Devers and Montgomery received these German surrenders they made no commitments of any kind that could embarrass or limit our engagements in future decisions regarding Germany; they were purely military in character, nothing else.

GERMAN PROTEST
Friedrich protested that he had no power to sign any such document. He was given permission to transmit a message to Donitz, and received a reply that General Jodl was on his way to our headquarters to assist him in negotiations.

To us it seemed clear that the Germans were playing for time so that they could transfer behind our lines the German soldiers and the German soldiers still in the field. I told General Smith to inform Jodl that unless they instantly ceased all pretense and delay I would close the entire Allied front, and by force, prevent any more German refugees from entering.

ON ROYALTIES
The first great capitulation came in Italy. Alexander's forces had waged a brilliant campaign throughout the year 1944 and by April 26, 1945, had placed the enemy in an impossible situation. Negotiations for local surrender began and on April 29 the German commander surrendered. All his units in Italy were to cease May 3.

This placed the German troops just to the north of Italy in an equally impossible situation. On May 2 the German commander requested the identity of the Allied commander he should approach in order to surrender and was told to apply to General Devers. He was warned that only unconditional surrender would be acceptable. This enemy force was known as Army Group G and comprised the German First and Nineteenth Armies. They gave up on May 3, with the capitulation to be effective May 6.

Far to the north, in the Hamburg area, the German Commander also saw the hopelessness of this situation. On April 26 a German emissary appeared in Stockholm to say that Field Marshal Busch, commanding the German forces in Denmark, were ready to surrender as quickly as the Allied advance reached the Baltic.

ANYONE BUT RUSSIA
We were told that the Germans would refuse to surrender to the Russians but would accept the terms of the German surrender to the British and Americans.

After the fighting in Europe had ended, General Eisenhower was still left with the problem of redeploying, uncrumpling the great Allied fighting force which had led, setting up military government over Germany and working out some basis for co-operation with the Red Army.

How he faced these problems and his first contact with Marshal Zhukov and Army leaders, who described in tomorrow's instalment of "Crusade in Europe" which will be published here.

DAY FOLLOWING this conference between Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery and members of German delegation in front of headquarters on Luenburg Heath south of Hamburg, saw unconditional surrender ending fighting in Holland and northwestern Germany on May 4, 1945.

KE'S FAMED victory speech from Reims Industrial School, then headquarters for SHAEF, was made May 7, 1945, in presence of British's Sir Arthur William Toller, deputy Allied supreme commander. Neither he was present at actual signing of surrender document.

Russians but that, once the Western Allies had arrived at Lubeck, some weeks before the final surrender from the arrival of final SS formations from central Germany, they would immediately surrender to us. Montgomery's forces in Lubeck were not far from the German High command.

By then, however, a great change in the governmental structure of Germany had taken place. Hitler had committed suicide, and the tattered mantle of his authority had fallen to Admiral Donitz. The admiral directed that all his armies everywhere should surrender to the Western Allies. Thousands of dejected German soldiers began streaming back to the Russians. Montgomery's headquarters.

He was accompanied by a staff officer of Field Marshal Busch. They stated that their purpose was to discuss the terms of the German surrender. They were three of their army which had been fighting the Russians and they asked authority to pass refugees through our lines. Their sole desire was to avoid surrender to the Russians. Montgomery promptly refused to discuss a surrender on these terms and sent the German emissaries back to Field Marshal Keitel, the chief of the German High command.

MUNDT ACCEPTS
I had already told Montgomery to accept the military surrender of the German forces in my zone, I was not prepared to accept the German offer. Trucker Remanded On Driving Charge
CALGARY, Dec. 7.—(CP)—James Morris, 38, Calgary truck driver, was remanded on $1,000 bail to March 3, 1949, for sentence on a charge of dangerous driving when he appeared before Chief Justice H. H. Brown in supreme court Monday.

His Lordship said he had not decided whether the driver's knowledge of faulty brakes on the truck of the day, otherwise known as the "Vehicles Act," evidence in the case was given last Nov. 12 and the most contemptuous character I have ever met; you are not even a man."

ROMANIA GRABS Church Property
BUCHAREST, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The Romanian government has announced that it has taken over the property of the United Nations (Romanian) Catholic Church.

Decree of the supreme president said the property goes to the state and that the United Church has ceased to exist after deciding to return to the Romanian Orthodox Church.

The question has been subject to an exchange of views between the Romanian authorities and the Communist-dominated government since October.

Drew Close to Blows At Campaign Meeting

RICHMOND, Ont. Dec. 7.—(CP)—A hectic meeting, which came close to winding up in fistfights, marked a joint public appearance yesterday of the three candidates in the Carleton county federal by-election scheduled for Dec. 20.

William Temple of Toronto who defeated George Drew in the last Ontario election, almost came to blows with the new national Progressive Conservative leader after the two had exchanged insults. Donald Morrow, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario legislature for Carleton, assumed the role of peace maker and quickly removed the two men.

FOLLOWED SPEECHES
The clash came after the candidates and their supporters took turns addressing a meeting held in the town hall of this Carleton county seat after the close of a luncheon.

Mr. Drew and Eugene Forsey, Ontario's former Ontario premier and Progressive Conservative M.P. Forsey, both Mr. Forsey and Mr. Temple were shouted down when they attempted to speak before the meeting.

Extra! Extra! Jasper No. 1 Blows In!

JUST A FANTASY or reality of the future? Northward march of oil exploration in Alberta brings to mind the possibility of such scenes as this springing up in mid-Edmonton. Although present regulations would place many stumbling blocks in the way of such a project, it seems probable that the prospects of big money for the city might do much to hasten their removal should oil actually be discovered beneath the city. This composite photo of an oil derrick at Jasper and 96th was produced by Bulletin staff photographer Eric Bland.

Jap Warlords Reprieved As Court Considers Ruling

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(AP)—A broken Supreme Court has given seven former Japanese warlords a new lease on life today—the seventh anniversary of the Pearl Harbor attack they helped plot.

Splitting 5 to 4, the tribunal agreed yesterday to consider whether it can pass on the findings of the international court in Tokyo which doomed the men to be hanged as war criminals.

CAST DECIDING VOTE

Justice Robert H. Jackson, who took leave from the bench in 1945 to prosecute Germany's war criminals, east, east the deciding vote because "the issues here are truly great ones."

"Their decision will establish or deny," he declared, "that this court has power to review exercise of military power abroad and the president's conduct of external affairs of our government."

In earlier appeals to the tribunal from war-crimes sentences meted out by American military courts in Germany, Jackson held aloof because of his role at Nuremberg as Chief Allied Prosecutor. In those cases the Supreme Court divided 4 to 4 and, because a tie vote denies an appeal, the sentences never were reviewed by the tribunal.

ARGUMENTS ONLY

In no event will the court pass on the guilt or innocence of the Japanese. But it will hear arguments Dec. 18 on whether it has any power to intervene and, if so, whether the 11-power war-crimes tribunal at Tokyo was legally set up.

In the case before it yesterday, the court actually dealt with only two of the seven men sentenced to death and only five of the 18 who drew prison terms.

Dispatches from Tokyo, however, said it was believed the court's action automatically would stay all sentences.

The doomed men who appealed from their Nov. 12 convictions are Gen. Kenji Dohara, 64, an undercover agent for the Japanese army in China and Manchuria, and Koki Hirota, 70, former premier who sat in on pre-war strategy talks.

Former premier Hideki Tojo and four others sentenced to death asked no intervention.

Possibilities of Oil Are Ordered

By Harlo Jones
In Edmonton likely to become the derrick-studded Tulsa of the north?

With the discovery of oil already within nine miles of the city limits, and with exploratory drilling going on barely past the railroad yards on the edge of town, the question is one which may require an answer in the very near future.

On the surface, the question may seem laughable, but there is more to it than appears on the surface.

NO CITY BYLAW

There is no city regulation which forbids drilling for oil inside the city limits.

The urban mining regulations, designed to protect built-up areas from the danger of sinking land caused by mining beneath it, are confined almost entirely to the field of coal mining. There is no mention of oil in them.

However, there is little danger to the city of land sinking as the result of the removal of oil, since oil does not leave a cavity when it is taken out, but is merely with drawn from pores in the rock in which it is found.

ZONING BYLAWS

City regulations which might affect drilling are the zoning by laws.

Here, too, there is no mention of oil drilling specifically.

It is to be presumed that since the zoning laws are of the type of regulation concerned with production, it might be reasonably confined to industrial areas.

The joker in the pack where the zoning regulations are concerned is a paragraph which deals with uses of land "which may be obstructed by reason of emission of smoke, steam, gas or by reason of noise or vibration."

Such operations are confined entirely to heavy industrial areas and can be supervised by the zoning regulations by the Zoning Appeal Board.

OIL RIGHTS PROBLEM

If the oil operator overcomes these difficulties, the question of oil rights under land in the city. This takes on something of the aspect of the provincial search for a needle in a haystack.

In the case of city solicitor T. E. Garnde, K.C., most city lands have been sold for some time.

So, the property whose house is sitting on may or may not have the oil rights which it is looking for. In others they have kept the right; in others they have lost it.

To settle the question would require a search of title to every piece of privately owned property in the city.

CITY OWNERS SOME

In the case of lands which have reverted to city ownership and can be surveyed after being retained by the city.

So, if you've searched your title, and you are in the right, you are all set to drill, you'd better have the oil in the subsurface.

In the city or not, the provincial regulations apply and have the final word on who does what and where in the oil business.

Government officials say there would be no objection by them to drilling in the city if all other requirements are satisfied, and that isn't an easy job to look for.

For example, it is pretty difficult to get 330 feet from a boundary line or building on a 30 foot lot.

CITY COULD RISK

There is a possibility, of course, that the city itself might become interested in drilling on such areas as Victoria Park or the Exhibition Grounds. But the city is right back at the zoning regulations.

There may, however, be an answer in the form of a city-owned oil well.

If the oil is there, regulations could probably be changed to allow it to be got out.

It might even be deemed advisable, as actually happened in some American centres, to move parts of the city clock, and to barrel to new locations, the oil and pay for it with plenty left over for the city's coffers.

But then, again, there might be no oil under the city in the first place.

CHRISTMAS TREE FOR CHILDREN IS ARRANGED

A Christmas tree for Edmonton's underprivileged children is to be held Saturday afternoon, Dec. 18, by the Edmonton branch of the Associated Canadian Travellers in the All Saints Parish Hall.

Plans for the Christmas tree, which is held annually, were completed at a recent meeting of the organization held in the Curran Hotel.

Arrangements were also completed for holding the annual election of officers at the first meeting in the New Year.

New member Dr. Mervin Huston of the International Ice Hockey Association, was guest speaker and discussed the various national and international hockey organizations.

Negro Shot Dead

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(AP)—An unidentified negro who forced his way into a Brooklyn supermarket early yesterday was shot and killed by a detective, according to the store.

The market had been robbed several times recently, always during week-ends.

Secondary Industries Said City's Future

Future of Edmonton is going to depend on keen alert business leaders developing the city as a manufacturing and service center.

W. G. Hardy, president of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, told members of the Klans Club at their meeting in the MacDonald Hotel Monday.

Members of the club, who are not alone make a great metropolitan city, Mr. Wimpster said. It remains to secondary manufacturing industries to provide the employment for a large population.

For Edmonton to develop along these lines, Mr. Wimpster said, a combined effort of all citizens will be needed to get the present freight structure corrected; to get the necessary housing for new industries and employees.

It will also be necessary, he said, to develop a closer understanding between the urban and rural peoples; and to get the city located on a main coast-to-coast air route.

Three members of the club, Thorton, John Brown and J. A. Christensen were presented with special attendance awards by Andrew Whyte, club's driver.

New member Dr. Mervin Huston was introduced to the club by President Walter Sprague, who presided.

Cheque Passer Gets 3 Months

An Edmonton man was sentenced to three months in hard labor in Fort Saskatchewan jail Monday when he appeared before Magistrate A. L. Millar on charges of false pretences.

He is Edmund J. Roux, who had issued four worthless cheques to the total value of about $100.

He was given three months on each of the four charges, but the sentences were made concurrent.

The magistrate noted that he had no previous criminal record and did not give him the option of a fine.

Nothing Taken During Break-In

Break-in at a retail lot off at 10312 103 street was discovered by city police at about 11:35 p.m. Monday.

A window had been broken to gain entry. Captain J. H. Sawyer were littered about the office and Frank Coulson, manager of the business was called. He said there apparently was nothing missing.

Mrs. J. Herbert Wins Contest Prize Tuesday

Here it is:
Cream together 1/2 cup shortening and 1/2 cup sugar. Add 4 beaten egg yolks and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Sift together 1 cup sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, and 1/2 teaspoon salt, and add alternately with 3 tablespoons milk. Spread in 2-batch pans that have been greased and floured.

Beat 4 egg whites until stiff, adding 1 cup sugar gradually while beating. Turn out each addition. Spread over top layer and cover with nuts. Bake half hour in moderately slow oven. Lift out carefully. Cool and put together with your favorite custard filling.

For yesterday's dinner I tossed a great val of green salad. Naturally we ate only about half the salad... and what to do with a vegetable salad that has a nasty habit of becoming sodden when it has to stand for a few hours?

Before filling the bowl with salad, put a saucer, upside down on the bottom of the bowl. This way the moisture will run under and drip off the salad, will remain fresh and crisp.

This week we must get the noses to the grindstone and prepare right long lists of gifts for Xmas and here of all things.

Tall Gals Need Self-Confidence

A teen-ager who is self-conscious because her beanstalk growth has given her more inches than her dancing partners, needs helpful guidance right now from her Mom.

One way to give a tall teenage daughter the self-assurance she needs is to make sure she is an excellent dancer.

Encourage her to polish up on her dance steps. Make it easy for her to show off the newest steps by taking her to a few professional dances before holiday parties begin.

If she's the best dancer on the floor, she needs' worry about her popularity with the stagline.

As important in overcoming a tall girl's self-consciousness is her clothes. She is flatteringly dressed. Clothes must neither be too child-like styled or styled to make her look too adult.

Good clothes for a young girl are dresses fitted through the torso with extravagant fullness released at the neckline.

Skirts with horizontal bandings of lace or contrasting fabric help to give the illusion of a shorter figure. Two-colored color combinations are also good devices for minimizing height of figure.

Better than strapless or off-the-shoulder dresses, if arms are long and shoulders are thin, are bodices with drapery-embellished necklines.

Single scarves worn over thin shoulders and arms are also helpful.

The tall-girl should avoid dresses with high waistlines, long, clinging skirts or vertically-angled skirts.

YOUR BABY AND MINE Ways to Keep Children From Answering 'No'

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

If you are having trouble getting your two-year-old to take a daily nap, console yourself that you are not alone in your difficulties. You know, and so do other mothers, that there are days when the child lies down happily and sleeps, and others when the very sight of his bed sends him into a frenzy of opposition.

Since he is in the beginning of the negative period, any of the habitual ceremonies, such as going to bed, eating or going to toilet, give him an opportunity to exploit his negative power. He can say no and no one can "make" him do any of them, unless he is so inclined.

If the baby mother will take the time she may approach the matter or bedtime subject without offering the child the opportunity to say no. I wish to state that, should you happen, that he carry his dog or any pet animal—upstairs, or into the bedroom. Since he cannot move without this toy, getting it upstairs gets the boy there, too.

She puts him on the toilet and says quickly, "Here is a big glass of water." While he is drinking the quickly peels off his clothes.

It's time now for the child to put the doggie in bed and then he is lifted in beside him. The lights are lowered, he is kissed and the door is closed. So far he hasn't had one chance to say, "no."

Even now there may be a slight up and the child may begin to scream, "no bed, no bed," but in a few minutes or so with a quiet, "play with doggie," he may decide to go to sleep.

If he doesn't, then the blinds should be run up and he should be told to play and another toy put in bed with him. The door should be left open and he may, with no compulsion, go to sleep.

His brother, No. 38 "Sleeping Habits," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Every Child Must Cut Apron Strings

DEAR MISS DIX: I am the mother of two sons who cause me great deal of trouble. One is 23 years old and the other is 22.

The one who is 23 married last month without my consent and has left me. My 22-year-old son is constantly threatening to leave home. What can I do?

A DISTRACTED MOTHER.

ANSWER: Let them go. That is what every mother has to do in the end, because it is the law of life. The young man cut their mother's apron strings and go into the world to seek their fortunes.

They must live their own lives. They must stand on their own feet. They must make their own mistakes and have their own experiences. They must stumble and fall and get up again, and try it all over again.

It is hard for mothers to accept this and to realize that their children are individual human beings, and that they get to be group men and women, entitled to lead their own lives. Mother would like to hold them by the apron strings, but she must appreciate the law of life.

Oil Price Slash Opens Competition

Canadian Crude Now
In Better Selling Spot

TORONTO, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Because of recent price reductions, Alberta crude oil may now compete successfully with United States crude anywhere on the prairie market, H. H. Hewitson, president of Imperial Oil, Ltd., said yesterday in an address to the Canadian Club.

Mr. Hewitson, taking account of the fact that oil, despite the scramble for it over the world, is still a competitive business, outlined various steps being taken to extend the market for prairie production, and at the same time cautioned that these steps take time and money.

16-INCH LINE

Because we are now assured of enough Alberta oil to supply some more than prairie needs, we are committed to a 16-inch line from Niakwa, near Edmonton, to Regina, at a cost of approximately $35,000,000. We expect it will be completed in 1952.

"When developed to a maximum capacity it will carry 100,000 barrels daily and, as required, extension can be made beyond Regina, either eastward in Canada or across the United States border, at the possibly both.

"Before maximum capacity of the Regina line can be utilized, there will be a period during which new wells brought into production may not immediately add to the total daily output of Alberta crude.

TAKES TIME

"Such a situation can arise because the development of new markets, like the construction of pipe lines, cannot be accomplished in a few days. You can't put it into a line unless there is someone to receive and use it at the other end. And to use it you need refineries that will process it for the markets that will absorb the products.

"For instance, there is a good market in the Dakota but no refining capacity there. Under prevailing conditions two years is a long time in which to build a steam refinery and again much capital is involved.

"If the oil industry considers projects involving even larger movements of oil than the maximum 100,000 barrels through the proposed Regina line, it will be because there is enough crude oil in sight or blocked out in reserves to fill more or larger lines and amortize them over a reasonable period.

"Nobody could expect that the capital would be forthcoming without such assurance.

MADE COMPETITIVE

Before the recent reduction of crude prices by 32 cents a barrel in the Edmonton and 43 cents in Turner Valley, Mr. Hewitson said, the Edmonton refinery at Winnipeg made it non-competitive with economic United States sources. The price reduction made it competitive.

As another step in extending markets:

"We believe we can move reduced crude lines from which some of the lighter products that are in large demand on the prairies have been extracted—by rail from our Edmonton refinery to our refinery, near Vancouver.

"There, this reduced crude can be processed to supply products in demand for the British Columbia market and replace some supplies now coming from California.

"A similar procedure may in time further extend the market in

of prospects for further production.

Leduc (south of Edmonton) is a large oilfield. We expect Redwater (north of Edmonton) will be a large field. We hope Fischer Creek (in the southern Alberta foothills), and Craignipe (near Hanna, 80 miles northeast of Calgary), developed by others, will prove to be large fields, but we have no information on which to venture any prediction. We hope that more fields will be discovered soon.

"Although Leduc and Redwater represent large reserves they are by no means adequate to make Canada self-sufficient. Canada today consumes 250,000 barrels of oil a day and we expect that before maximum capacity will be reached the rate of 350,000 barrels.

"This consumption would warrant finding some 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 barrels of oil, and a reserve of this magnitude would be equivalent to quite a number of fields such as Leduc and Redwater."

King's General Health Good

LONDON, Dec. 7.—(Reuters)—The general health of the King continues to be good and he devotes a considerable proportion of his time to the conduct of affairs of state, an official bulletin said last night.

The bulletin on the King, who is suffering from obstruction to circulation in the legs, said:

"The process of restoration of the arterial circulation to the feet is proceeding slowly and since the bulletin of Nov. 29 a further small but encouraging improvement has occurred."

"In order to secure the rest and the warm environment which are indispensable for the re-establishment of the circulation His Majesty is remaining in his apartments and spends most of his time in bed."

Two Men Die In B.C. Accident

SALMON ARM, B.C., Dec. 7.—(CP)—A leveling machine which occurred in a blinding snowstorm resulted in two men here late yesterday.

Charles T. Holmes, Salmon Arm and Cecil Barr, Shuswap, B.C., were the victims of the accident.

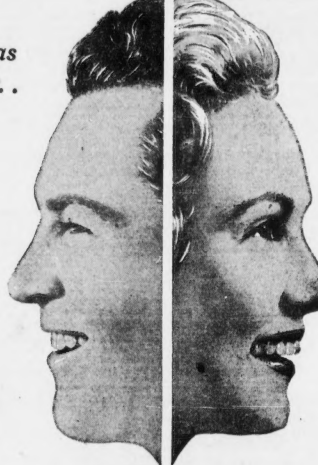

The car in which they were riding, driven by Mr. Barr, was hit by a fast eastbound Canadian Pacific Railway seaboard freight and carried about 75 feet before it was thrown clear.

The two men were taken to Salmon Arm General Hospital. Mr. Holmes was dead on arrival and Mr. Barr died about 2 1/2 hours later.

New Flying Scheme For Canadian Clubs

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—(CP)—Transport Minister Chever announced Monday that an order-in-council has been passed authorizing government financial assistance to approved flying clubs participating in student pilot training.

Under a plan, announced several weeks ago, the government will pay $100 to each approved flying club or flying school for each qualified pilot turned out, and also $100 to each student on his or her qualifying for private pilot's license from the transport department.

An additional $100 will be payable to any trainer meeting RCAF reserve or the RCAF auxiliary qualifications.

The flying club or school must qualify for special endorsement of its operating certificate in order to participate in the new scheme. The department said some clubs or schools are already in a position to meet minimum requirements.

Students wishing to participate in the scheme must obtain a student pilot permit through the district inspectors of air regulations. Students must undergo a medical examination by an examiner approved by the department.

Mr. Chever said the district controllers of air services were agreements and complete instructions regarding the new pilot training scheme may be obtained include: J. R. Robertson, Toronto; D. G. Joy, Winnipeg; Man. J. R. K. Main, Edmonton and G. A. Thompson, Vancouver.

Queen Liner 14 Days Late

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The liner Queen Elizabeth, largest passenger ship afloat, arrived last night from Southampton—14 days behind schedule.

The 84,000-ton vessel was delayed 11 days at Southampton when some crew members quit work in sympathy with the recent United States longshoremen's strike.

The liner then was fog-bound in port for another three days. Once at sea, she ran into heavy weather which caused an additional delay of 11 hours.

A delegation of nearly 100 men, headed by Joseph Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, waited on the pier.

They carried placards expressing thanks to the ship's crew members for refusing to sail from Southampton while the longshoremen's strike was on.

PROFS CAN'T DECIDE ON PROFIT MARGIN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Two Harvard University economists disagreed Monday on whether business is making too much profit.

Prof. Seymour E. Harris told a congressional committee: "My considered judgment is that profits are too high."

Prof. Sumner H. Slichter said that whether profits are too high or too low depends on what the country wants to do about the expansion of industry.

"If there is to be no expansion," he said, "then profits are too high. If there is to be expanded industry, then the profits are not enough."
